You may have noticed the school has a brand new sign. This striking addition to our school image also serves as a notice board. It will inform you of important dates and events, as well as showing some lovely photos of the school and its students.

Make certain to have a look and check it for updates of events and dates.

Pirate Fun

All hands were on deck as the Kindy and Pre Primary Pirates searched for hidden treasure.
Principal's Perspective
This term has been extremely busy with staff working very hard to ensure student engagement, fulfilment and success in the classroom. The staff Professional Learning program has not only focused on curriculum issues such as the implementation of the Australian Curriculum but also due consideration has been given to the classroom environment through the Classroom Management Strategies (CMS) Program being undertaken by staff throughout the term on weekends.

The experiences and feel of the classroom are important components of the CMS program. The climate of the classroom - the people, how they relate to each other and the learning activities - will affect the total learning experience, positively or negatively, for everyone. I believe that there are five important characteristics that contribute to a healthy classroom. They are: a sense of value and worth; a sense of respect; a sense of security and safety; a sense of engagement; and a sense of humour, enjoyment and fun.

A sense of respect
Students have rights in the classroom - the right to respect, the right to opportunities to learn and the right to privacy. They also have responsibilities - responsibilities to participate and contribute to class discussions and activities. Teachers' responsibilities include offering the best possible instruction and demonstrating respect toward students. Teachers also have rights, the same rights as the students - the right to respect, the right to opportunities to learn and the right to privacy. It is a sense of mutual respect that truly sets the tone of the classroom. Respect for others is based on knowing them and being aware of their individual strengths, needs, beliefs and experiences. Teachers need to know their students in order to connect with them on an intellectual level.

Our new Behaviour Management Policy reflects the notion that clear behavioural expectations are part of creating a healthy and safe community. They are necessary parameters for constructive interactions to ensure students maintain self-respect and respect of others. The list of behavioural expectations in the policy is brief, clear, explicit and written in positive language. A key component of the new policy is the Behaviour Management Referral system. This system requires Leonora staff to document poor student behaviour and mail this information home to parents/caregivers. This information gives parents/caregivers the opportunity to respond to and clarify the behavioural issues at hand. I would encourage all parents/caregivers to take an active interest in their child's schooling and respond to any behavioural issues that are being highlighted through this system.

A sense of security and safety
Students need a safe and caring environment in which to explore feelings, ideas and issues surrounding personal choices. A classroom must be physically and emotionally safe. Setting expectations and limits is critical to the emotional safety of students. Students should feel free to speak without ridicule, teasing, taunting or other humiliation.

A sense of engagement
Engagement begins with teachers projecting a sense of anticipation about the topic and activities, and sharing that enthusiasm with students. When students feel that their learning needs are being met, they have a sense of excitement about what they are doing. If they enjoy class time - if the activities and experiences interest them - they will actively participate. If they believe that what they are doing has value, they will be willing to invest time and energy.

A sense of humour, enjoyment and fun
Humour is a life-management skill, and students who can see the lighter side of things manage stress more effectively.

Finally I would like to remind everyone of the school's electronic device policy which recommends that students do not bring personal items and electronic equipment to school (eg. MP3 players, iPods, mobile phones), as the school will not be responsible for any loss, theft or damage of such devices. Respectful and responsible use of mobile electronic devices is expected. All devices are to be switched off and out of view throughout the day. Students who are unable to meet these guidelines will have their mobile electronic devices confiscated by staff and passed onto the Deputy. The School's Behaviour Management System will be applied if students do not follow instructions.

I wish all the students and staff a happy and restful break and look forward to again working with everyone next term.

We came second. It was fun:
This term Form A has been learning about the Solar System. Students have learnt lots of facts about the planets, wrote a report and designed their own planet environment. The class really enjoyed reading the book ‘Aliens Love Underpants’. They enjoyed it so much that they created their own underpants loving alien. The students work was showcased in the Front Office and they even sang a planet song at the assembly. A fantastic effort this term with all students putting a lot of effort into their work and showing great enthusiasm when learning all the amazing space facts.

Did you know:
- Saturn has rings with rocks as big as houses.
- All the planets orbit the Sun.
- Mercury is the hottest planet.
- Neptune is furthest planet from the Sun.
- Jupiter is the biggest planet in the Solar System.
- Aliens love underpants.
Last week Travis Gaspar and Darren Glass visited the school as part of the Inspired Living program.

They were here to talk to the students about fitness, social and emotional wellbeing and the importance of education, sport and community involvement.

Students from Years 7 to 12 together with Mr Arul Niroshan and Mr Rene Reddingius travelled to Kalgoorlie on Friday, 19th August for the annual WASM Girls and Guys Exploring Mines day.

It was a very early start and quite a late finish but a great day was had by all. The students’ behaviour was exemplary and as a town, we can feel very proud of them all.

The day’s activities included site visits, informative talks and hands on activities. The day was organised by the Goldfields Education Mining Industry Alliance (GEIMA) Inc. and was a fantastic way for our students to explore future possibilities in our local and regional mining industry.

A big thank you to Miles Contracting & MCS Dewatering for kindly donating their winnings from Leonora Rifle Club of $100 to the P&C.
